Headwaters at the Comal a remarkable transformation

7 hrs ago

On behalf of the Comal Master Gardeners, I would like to thank Lauren Strack and Nancy Pappas for hosting our group and providing a tour of the remarkable Headwaters at the Comal on our recent visit.

I invite any resident who hasn't already visited this New Braunfels wonder to see what vision, effort and contributions can accomplish.

NBU is to be congratulated on its decision to turn 16 acres of prime real estate in the midst of town from basically an asphalt parking lot into an ecological destination.

Many of the citizens of our city have joined the utility in funding the extensive transformation from a major polluter of the springs into an environmental showcase of responsible stewardship.

The project, started in 2011, is in the final stages of its Phase I. Visit its second Earth Day celebration on April 20 and its website
